Dear Sir/Madam,

The Office for Good Governance within the Office of the Prime Minister has intensified its efforts to transform the public consultation process into a key pillar of democratic governance during 2025. The active inclusion of citizens, civil society and other relevant stakeholders has contributed to increasing transparency, strengthening accountability and raising the quality of public decision-making.

During this year, significant progress has been made in increasing participation and advancing the digital platform for public consultations, making it a functional and inclusive tool for direct dialogue with citizens. At the same time, we have invested in building institutional capacities to ensure a more sustainable and effective implementation of this process.

In line with this commitment, the year 2025 has also marked concrete steps in the implementation of the Regulation (GRK) - No. 17/2024 on the Rules of Procedure of the Government of the Republic of Kosovo, in completing the regulatory base and in strengthening the coordination mechanisms, laying strong foundations for further advancing the platform and for more consistent implementation of public consultation standards.

Despite the progress, challenges remain real—from the lack of capacities in some institutions to the unequal inclusion of interest groups. Therefore, a clear priority remains to expand this process at the local level and guarantee a broader, fairer and representative participation.

Our commitment is unwavering, to build a sustainable culture of dialogue, where citizens are not only listeners, but also co-creators of public policies.

Respectfully,
Habit Hajredini

ANNUAL REPORT ON PUBLIC CONSULTATIONS FOR THE YEAR 2025

1. Introduction

During 2025, the Republic of Kosovo continued to advance public consultation practices, with particular emphasis on increasing transparency, public involvement and strengthening the participation of civil society organizations in policy and legislation drafting processes.

The Public Consultation Platform https://konsultimet.rks-gov.net/_index.php continued to serve as the main institutional instrument for publishing consultation documents, involving citizens and stakeholders, and reporting the results of these processes. Through it, a higher level of transparency and a more structured approach to the public consultation process has been enabled.

In this context, the Office for Good Governance in the Office of the Prime Minister (OGG/OPM) has exercised its coordinating and monitoring role in support of public institutions, contributing to the standardization of reporting, improving data quality and strengthening institutional accountability.

The annual report on public consultations for 2025 presents the main developments during the reporting period 01.01.2025 - 31.12.2025, based on data reported by institutions, data published on the platform and statistical statements included in this report.

2. Institutional framework and role of the Office for Good Governance in the Office of the Prime Minister (OGG/OPM)

The Office for Good Governance in the Office of the Prime Minister, in line with its institutional mandate, has continued to coordinate and monitor the public consultation process at central and local levels.

This role has been carried out through:

- providing instructions and clarifications to public institutions;
- coordinating with public consultation coordinators in ministries and other institutions;
- offering technical support for the use and operationalization of the platform;
- monitoring the publication of documents and final reports;
- verifying and consolidating the data reported by institutions

Through this engagement, the Office for Good Governance in the Office of the Prime Minister (OGG/OPM) has contributed to improving institutional reporting standards, increasing transparency, and strengthening mechanisms for public participation in policy-making and decision-making processes.

3. Reporting methodology

The report is drafted based on:

- data reported by the coordinators for public consultations in the ministry and in the Office of the Prime Minister;
- data published on the Platform for Public Consultations;
- data collected from the institutional activities of the OGG/OPM;
- additional data obtained through communication and coordination with responsible institutions.

In cases where there were discrepancies between the data reported by the institutions and the data published on the platform, additional clarifications were requested from the relevant institutions. For the purposes of this report, the harmonization of data has been carried out based on the statistical tables included in the report.

This report focuses mainly on the quantitative presentation of the data, namely on the number of published documents, their type, the status of final reports, public participation, and the number of reported comments.

4. General overview of public consultations at the central level for 2025

This summary presents an overview of public consultations at the central level for the period 01.01.2025 – 31.12.2025, based on data from the public consultation platform and reports from the respective coordinators. The analysis focuses on the number and type of documents open and closed for consultation, the level of publication of final reports, as well as public participation in the consultation processes. The aim is to provide an overview of the trends in public consultations at the central level and to assess the level of transparency and involvement of stakeholders in the decision-making processes.

Overall, the data show that a significant number of public consultations were held at the central level during the reporting period, with a main focus on secondary legislation and regulatory documents. However, challenges remain in increasing public participation through the consultation platform and in ensuring the full and timely publication of final consultation reports.

According to the harmonized data for the period 01 January 2025 – 31 December 2025, at the central level results:

- 104 documents opened for consultation during the period;
- 118 documents with closed consultation during the period.

During the reporting period 01.01.2025 - 31.12.2025, based on the data and reports received from all relevant ministries and institutions as well as the data published on the platform, it was found that a number of institutions have not conducted public consultations within the framework of the Public Consultation Platform.

In this regard: The Ministry of Economy did not have any documents published on the Public Consultation Platform during this period, the Ministry of Regional Development did not conduct public consultation processes through the relevant platform, and the Office of the Commissioner for Languages did not have any documents included in the Public Consultation Platform.

The findings in the report are based on official information submitted by the relevant institutions and are reflected in the annual summary report.

It should be noted that the Ministry of Justice has reported that, after having problems connecting to the platform, it has published four acts that have completed the phase of public consultations through their website, so there are four documents, and they are:

- Draft Administrative Instruction for the Use of the Notarial Information System, Electronic Access and Use of Public Registers, as well as the Exchange of Information with other Institutions and attached documents. From 06.10.2025 - 24.10.2025 <https://md.rks-gov.net/publikimet/konsultime/>
- Draft Administrative Instruction MJ- No. Xxx/2025 for Electronic Registration of Wills. From 06.10.2025 - 24.10.2025 <https://md.rks-gov.net/publikimet/konsultime/>
- Draft Administrative Instruction on the maintenance, security and use of the Electronic System for information management and issuing public reports. From 06.10.2025 - 24.10.2025 <https://md.rks-gov.net/publikimet/konsultime/>
- Draft Administrative Instruction on Criteria and Timelines for Drafting Reports and Supervision of Persons Released on Parole, https://md.rks-gov.net/publikimet konsultime/

These data have not been included in the overall statistics of this report.

4.1. Documents opened for consultation during the period 01 January 2025 – 31 December 2025

Based on the reports of the coordinators for public consultations, the data extracted from the consultation platform and their summary during the reporting period 01.01.2025 – 31.12.2025, this subchapter presents an overview of the documents open for consultation at the central level. The analysis aims to provide an overall assessment of the number, distribution and trends of public consultations, reflecting the level of transparency and public involvement in decision-making processes.

During the reporting period 01.01.2025 - 31.12.2025, a total of 104 documents were opened for public consultation at the central level.

Table 1: Summary of types of documents published by institutions - Consultations open during the period: 01.01.2025-31.12.2025

According to the type of documents, the structure is presented as follows:

- 3 concept documents;
- 8 draft laws;
- 2 action plans;
- 21 draft regulations;
- 59 administrative instructions;
- 5 strategies;
- 1 program;
- 5 other documents.

From this data it results that administrative instructions constitute the largest category of documents opened for consultation, with 56.73% of the total, followed by draft regulations with 20.19%. This shows that during 2025 the public consultation process at the central level has focused mainly on documents of the nature of administrative instructions and regulations.

According to the type of documents, they are distributed as follows:

- 5 concept documents;
- 10 draft laws;
- 5 action plans;
- 25 draft regulations;
- 63 administrative instructions;
- 4 strategies;
- 1 program;
- 5 other documents.

Even among the closed consultations, administrative instructions constitute the largest share, with 53.39% of the total, while draft regulations account for 21.19%. This confirms that, also in the completed processes, the institutional focus has been primarily on administrative instructions and regulations.

5. Institutional distribution of documents at the central level

The Line Institutions/Ministries according to Table 2, with the largest number of documents with closed consultation during the reporting period 01.01.2025 – 31.12.2025 are:

- Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry and Rural Development – 24 documents or 20.34%;
- Ministry of Environment, Spatial Planning and Infrastructure – 23 documents or 19.49%;
- Ministry of Culture, Youth and Sports – 14 documents or 11.86%;
- Ministry of Industry, Entrepreneurship and Trade – 12 documents or 10.17%;
- Ministry of Health – 10 documents or 8.47%;
- Ministry of Justice – 9 documents or 7.63%.

While, according to Table 1, the institutions with the largest number of documents open for consultation during the period are:

- Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry and Rural Development – 22 documents or 21.15%;
- Ministry of Environment, Spatial Planning and Infrastructure – 18 documents or 17.31%;
- Ministry of Culture, Youth and Sports – 13 documents or 12.50%;
- Ministry of Industry, Entrepreneurship and Trade – 11 documents or 10.58%;
- Ministry of Health – 9 documents or 8.65%.

From these data, it is noted that a limited number of institutions have concentrated the majority of publications for public consultation during 2025, while some institutions have not published documents at all during the reporting period.

6. Final reports on the progress of the public consultation process for published documents

According to Table 3, out of a total of 118 documents with closed consultation at the central level. These data show that the majority of documents closed during 2025 were accompanied by a final public consultation report. Nevertheless, the percentage of documents without a final report remains significant and indicates the need for further improvement in the implementation of obligations for the full conclusion of the public consultation process.

The institutions that, according to the table, have fully fulfilled the obligation to publish final reports for all documents closed during the period are:

- Ministry of Culture, Youth and Sports;
- Ministry of Justice;
- Ministry of Education, Science, Technology and Innovation;
- Office of the Prime Minister;
- Ministry of Defense;
- Ministry of Local Government Administration.

On the other hand, some institutions result in lower performance in terms of publishing final reports, which requires greater commitment to fully meeting the procedural standards of public consultation.

- 69 documents were published with a final report, or 58.47%;
- 49 documents were published without a final report, or 41.53%.

7. Public participation and the activity of stakeholders during the public consultation process

During 2025, through the public consultation process, a series of policy documents and normative acts were forwarded and published on the relevant platform at the central level, aiming at the involvement of the public and stakeholders in decision-making. This section presents an overview of public participation and the activity of collaborators during this period. According to Table 4, out of a total of 104 documents open for consultation during the period at the central level, only 5 documents had comments from collaborators, or 4.81%, while 99 documents were published without comments, or 95.19%.

This reflects a low level of direct participation in the platform, at least according to the data recorded in this reporting category. The institutions where participation with comments has been observed in this table are:

- Ministry of Culture, Youth and Sports;
- Ministry of Environment, Spatial Planning and Infrastructure;
- Ministry of Finance, Labor and Transfers;
- Ministry of Internal Affairs;
- Ministry of Education, Science, Technology and Innovation.

The highest percentages of documents with comments, according to this overview, have:

- Ministry of Finance, Labor and Transfers – 33.33%;
- Ministry of Internal Affairs – 25.00%;
- Ministry of Education, Science, Technology and Innovation – 20.00%.

Nevertheless, it should be emphasized that this overview does not necessarily include all comments provided in other forms outside the standard registration on the platform.

8. Number and status of comments reported in other forms of public consultation

The platform has not been the only tool for public comment and contribution on published documents. During the reporting year, other forms of public consultation have also been used, through which stakeholders have provided contributions and comments on the drafted documents. These have included written communication, attached documents, working meetings and other consultative mechanisms. According to Table 5, institutions have reported a total of 517 comments received through other forms of consultation, including written communication, attached documents, working meetings and other consultative mechanisms.

Of these:

- 217 comments were fully approved;
- 67 comments were partially approved;
- 233 comments were rejected.

Table 5. Number of comments given in other formats reported by responsible institutions

These data show that, although comments registered directly on the platform appear low according to Table 4, in practice the consultation process has generated a significantly higher number of contributions through other channels.

The institutions with the highest number of reported comments are:

- Ministry of Justice – 140 comments;
- Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry and Rural Development – 102 comments;
- Ministry of Culture, Youth and Sports – 63 comments;
- Ministry of Industry, Entrepreneurship and Trade – 58 comments;
- Ministry of Education, Science, Technology and Innovation – 57 comments;
- Ministry of Health – 52 comments;
- Ministry of Local Government Administration – 41 comments.

This proves that the participation of the public and civil society organizations in public consultations has been broader than can result solely from the data automatically recorded on the platform.

The level of compliance with the standards for the consultation process according to the Government's Rules of Procedure.

This year as well, the quality of the consultation, the methodology used to draft this report and the allocated resources do not allow for an assessment of the compliance with the standards in a qualitative aspect. However, according to the information provided through reporting and those published, there are many good examples of ministries that have published and consulted documents on the platform during 2025 according to the standards of the regulation and beyond this framework. The ministries that have fully met the standards are: Ministry of Culture, Youth and Sports; Ministry of Defense; Ministry of Education, Science, Technology and Innovation; Ministry of Local Government Administration and Ministry of Regional Development.

9. Public consultation at the local level

In addition to the central level, during this reporting period statistics and data have also been collected for the local level, providing a more comprehensive overview of the development of public consultations as a whole. The expansion of the public consultation system at the local level is one of the positive developments in recent years. During 2025, the use of the platform has been extended to most municipalities, which have published documents for public consultation and began to establish more sustainable practices of reporting and public involvement. This constitutes a significant progress at the local level in terms of public consultations, however, there is still a need for more continuous monitoring and higher-quality reporting. According to Table 6, during the period 01.01.2025 – 31.12.2025, a total of 88 public consultations were closed at the local level.

By type of documents, they include:

- 5 concept documents;
- 13 action plans;
- 17 draft regulations;
- 3 strategies;
- 50 other documents.

The category with the highest participation at the local level is the “Other” category, with 56.82% of the total, followed by:

- draft regulations with 19.32%;
- action plans with 14.77%.

The municipalities with the highest number of closed documents during the period are:

- Municipality of Prizren – 20 documents or 22.73%;
- Municipality of Ferizaj – 10 documents or 11.36%;
- Municipality of Gjilan – 9 documents or 10.23%;
- Municipality of Shtime – 7 documents or 7.95%;
- Municipality of Lipjan – 6 documents or 6.82%.

These data show that the local level has made progress in the use of the platform, although differences between municipalities remain pronounced and require further support for standardization and more active use of public consultation mechanisms.

10. Promotional activities, inclusion and inclusive approach

During 2025, the OGG/OPM continued its activities to promote public participation and the use of the public consultation platform, with a particular focus on the inclusion of non-majority communities and improving accessibility for persons with disabilities.

In cooperation with institutional partners and civil society organizations, informative and promotional activities have been carried out with the aim of:

- raising awareness on the importance of public consultations;
- encouraging the use of the platform by non-majority communities;
- promoting non-discrimination and all-inclusiveness;
- expanding access to the platform for persons with disabilities.

These activities have contributed to strengthening civic involvement and promoting a more open and inclusive approach to policy-making processes.

11. Improving and advancing the public consultation process, building the capacity of officials and the process of government cooperation with civil society

In addition to daily coordination and technical support, during 2025 work has also continued on strengthening the capacities of public officials in the field of public consultations.

In this regard, the following have been supported:

- organizing training for responsible officials;
- promoting good consultation practices;
- developing more structured approaches to organizing consultation processes;
- using different consultation methods, including online consultations, physical meetings and written communication.

Further , work has continued on drafting the manual for public consultations in accordance with the new regulatory framework, with the aim of standardizing and further improving institutional practice.

The Office of Good Governance/Office of the Prime Minister, in order to improve and advance the consultation process, build capacities for officials, and inter-institutional access and coordination for the consultation process, besides the ongoing work, is implementing and developing a series of policies and recommendations that have resulted from the relevant analyses and assessments of this process. One of the key documents in this regard is the “Framework for Improving the Implementation of Minimum Standards for Public Consultations for the Period 2021–2025”, which was implemented in cooperation with the OSCE. Currently, work is being done to improve, develop and advance the overall functionality of the Online Platform for Public Consultations.

In order to build the capacities of public officials for the consultation process, various trainings have been organized in cooperation with the Kosovo Institute for Public Administration (KIPA), the team of certified trainers and the OGG/OPM and other experts. These trainings have been held both in the form of groups and within the institutions responsible for public consultations themselves.

Likewise, access to the Online Platform for persons with disabilities is being improved, ensuring their fuller and more active participation in social processes and in the development of public policies in Kosovo. It is being improved:

- Advancing the involvement of the public and civil society in consultations is being done through structured and well-planned approaches by institutions.
- Organizing regular and specialized trainings on public participation, consultation techniques and communication with civil society;
- Using case studies and good practices from other countries;
- Drafting practical guidelines, developing manuals and protocols that guide staff in organizing and effectively managing consultation processes;
- Using different methodologies, such as online consultations, physical meetings, public questionnaires, etc.
- Teams for sharing experiences and good practices, as well as direct official exchanges to learn from successful models.

A key element is also the cooperation with civil society organizations (CSOs), through the development of joint capacities and the drafting of joint consultation processes, fostering effective and sustainable partnerships.

12. Challenges identified

Despite the progress achieved, during 2025 several challenges have been identified that continue to affect the quality and effectiveness of the public consultation process.

The main challenges include:

- the low level of comments registered directly on the platform;
- the limited involvement of some civil society organizations, particularly those outside consolidated networks;
- the uneven quality of final reports among institutions;
- partial discrepancies between reported data and data published on the platform;
- the lack of more detailed explanations for rejected comments in some cases;
- differences between institutions and municipalities in terms of implementation of standards and reporting.

These challenges highlight the need for further improvement in the quality of reporting, strengthening of institutional capacities, and increased interaction with the public and civil society organizations.

13. Recommendations

For the further improvement of the public consultation process, it is recommended :

- to draft and finalize the manual for public consultations in accordance with the new Rules of Procedure of the Government;
- to improve the quality and completeness of the final public consultation reports;
- to strengthen the verification and harmonization of statistical data between institutions and the platform;
- to increase the effective use of the public consultation platform and more complete recording of comments received;
- to widely promote the online platform in order to encourage greater participation of citizens and civil society organizations;
- to extend the consultation period for more complex documents with broader public impact;
- to strengthen two-way communication with the public to handle accepted, partially accepted and rejected comments;
- to encourage the inclusion of local CSOs and those not part of existing networks;
- to continue building the capacities of public officials for organizing and managing public consultation processes;
- to further develop the inclusive approach on the platform for non-majority communities and persons with disabilities.

14. Conclusions

During 2025, the Office for Good Governance / Office of the Prime Minister has continued to play an important role in advancing institutional transparency, strengthening public consultations, and improving cooperation between public institutions, citizens, and civil society organizations.

The harmonized data of this report show that during the reporting period:

- 104 documents were opened for public consultation at the central level;
- 118 consultations were closed at the central level;
- 69 documents were accompanied by a final report;
- 88 public consultations were closed at the local level;
- a total of 517 comments were reported through other forms of consultation.

These data proves progress in the operationalization of the public consultation system and in the use of institutional mechanisms for public involvement. However, they also indicate the need for further improvement in the quality of reporting, increased direct participation in the platform, and more consistent implementation of public consultation standards by all institutions.

In this regard, continued institutional support, strengthening professional capacities and increasing cooperation with civil society remain essential for the further development of open governance and inclusive policy-making in the Republic of...

This development reflects the growing commitment of public institutions to implement democratic standards and ensure accountability in policy-making. The engagement of non-governmental organizations and their interest in being an active part of the process, as well as clearer reporting by institutions, are indicators of a positive and progressive dynamic.

The Public Consultation Platform has now become an essential institutional and official tool, serving as the central point of communication between public institutions, stakeholders, and citizens. It ensures inclusive participation in the policy-making and decision-making processes of public interest, while increasing the transparency and accountability of public bodies.

The active participation of civil society has become increasingly visible through this online platform, where stakeholders have registered and contributed through comments and participation in the drafting of policies and legislation.

In this regard, the Government of the Republic of Kosovo, through the Office for Good Governance (OGG) in the Office of the Prime Minister, has made progress in developing standards and practices for increasing civil society participation in the policy-making process. An important step has been the integration of the Regulation on Minimum Standards in the Public Consultation Process (No. 05/2016) into the new Government Regulation (No. 17/2024 on the Rules of Procedure of the Government of the Republic of Kosovo).

The Office for Good Governance, as the coordinator of the public consultation process, continues to be responsible for managing all consultations, including those through the online platform. Currently, this office is in the process of initiating and drafting a new manual for the implementation of the new Regulation, while the existing manual is being implemented until the new one is finalized. In accordance with the new Rules of Procedure of the Government (No. 21.05.2025), the Office for Good Governance, in cooperation with the consultation coordinators from all relevant ministries and institutions, has also prepared the Annual Report on public consultations for 2025.

This progress demonstrates a continuous institutional commitment to strengthening dialogue with the public and ensuring a more transparent and inclusive policymaking process in the Republic of Kosovo.
